

The background features a stylized illustration of a street lamp on the left and a building on the right. The lamp has a horizontal arm with three sockets, the last of which holds a glowing light bulb. The building is composed of several rectangular blocks of varying heights and shades of yellow and orange. The entire scene is set against a solid yellow background.

Реактивное программирование